NOTE: The Africa Region chooses to use a large portion of their BGMC funds for materials, supplies, textbooks, and library books for the Bible schools across the continent. A large portion of BGMC funds is also used to pay for educating pastors at the Bible schools. Much of this money is given to "Africa's Hope." The African churches are growing at such a fast rate that there are more churches than pastors. It is vital that pastors be trained for these churches. These pastors could not afford to leave their families and pay for a biblical education if it weren't for BGMC.

Africa also spends a good deal of money on water wells and on the AIDS crisis that affects most countries in that region.
